2. What are the risks and what could the investor get in return?

Risk Indicator

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because the Issuer is not able to pay the investor.

We have classified this product as 5 out of 7, which is a medium-high risk class.

This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-high level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact the capacity of the Issuer to pay the investor of the product.

The investor shall be aware of currency risk. If the investor receives payments in a different currency, the final return that the investor gets will depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so the investor could lose some or all of its investment.

If the Issuer is not able to redeem the investor what is owed, the investor could lose the entire investment.

For detailed information about all risks please refer to the risk sections of the legal documentation as specified in the section 'Other relevant information' below.

This table shows the money the investor could get back on the Redemption Date under different scenarios, assuming that the investor invests CHF 10,000.00.

The scenarios shown illustrate how the investor's investment could perform. The investor can compare them with scenarios of other products.

The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of the product varies, and are not an exact indicator.

What the investor gets back will vary depending on how the market performs and how long the investor keeps the investment/product.

The stress scenario shows what the investor might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where the Issuer is not able to pay the investor.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that the investor pays to the advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account the investor's personal tax situation, which may also affect how much the investor gets back.

3. What happens if the Issuer is unable to pay out?

The investor is exposed to the risk that the Issuer might be unable to fulfil its obligations in respect of the product e.g. in the event of insolvency (inability to pay / over-indebtedness) or administrative order. The investor may lose all or part of their invested capital and any return.

If, as part of recovery and resolution measures covering credit institutions and investment companies, the resolution authority establishes the known or foreseeable default of the issuer, it may decide to take measures impacting the value of the securities (bail-in). In this case, the investor bears the risk of losing all or part of the amount invested and any return.

4. What are the costs?

Cost over time

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs the investor pays will have on the investment return the investor might get. The total costs taken into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the product itself. They include potential early exit penalties. The figures assume the investor invests CHF 10,000. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

The person selling to the investor or advising the investor about this product may charge other costs. If so, this person will provide the investor with information about these costs, and show the investor the impact that all costs will have on the investor's investment over time.

5. How long should the investor hold it and can the investor take money out early?

Recommended holding period: 14/12/2023 (until Redemption Date)

The objective of the product is to provide the investor with the redemption profile described under "1. What is this product?" above. This only applies if the product is held until maturity.

There are no possibilities to take the investor's money out early other than to sell the product off-exchange.

Under normal market conditions, the price at which the investor may sell the product will depend on the market parameters prevailing at the time, which could put the invested amount at risk.

In unusual market situations, or in the event of technical faults/disruptions, a purchase and/or sale of the product can be temporarily hindered, or may not be possible at all.
